August 2025

“The one who sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and the one who sows bountifully will reap bountifully.”

August sees the start of the all-important harvest celebrations: Lammas, the blessing of the first grain harvest. After the prolonged spell of hot dry weather we've had, there may not be as much to harvest as usual, or at the usual time. It's a difficult and uncertain time for those who take care of the land and all that grows on it.

The 'big' harvest services are being planned for October, but on the first Sunday of August we'll remember Lammas at the services in church. The Bible readings for that day remind us of what happened when the Israelites were travelling through the wilderness: God provided manna, enough for each for every day, and they were to gather only enough manna for the day to come. Our instinct is always to have extra, 'just in case,' and many of us are in the fortunate position of having a fridge, freezer, and/or larder to store extra supplies. But then the reading from the letter to the Corinthians says this: "The one who sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and the one who sows bountifully will reap bountifully." Bountiful harvests need to be stored somewhere... and they are only bountiful as long as the weather doesn't disturb things too much... but I wonder if there are other things we can 'sow' too: friendliness, neighbourliness, care, support, being available when someone needs a listening ear or helping hand? I know these things are present in our village communities in very bountiful supply indeed; they do not need any literal space to be stored, those 'supplies' are simply part of who we are; and they are definitely worth sowing, remembering, and celebrating.

Keep an eye out for the Harvest services later this year, and do come along to the Lammas services on the first Sunday this month if you'd like to remember Lammas, give thanks for this first harvest and for those who take care of the land and all that grows on it, and pray for them.

Peace and blessings to you all,

Ilse

Dear Resident,

School holidays are here again, and for some of us it's a masterclass in logistical juggling, with job and childcare to organise. However, I'm sure there are vacations to look forward to, and at least the weather/ heatwaves are allowing us to live the outdoor life! 😊

- The fencing round the open space on the Orchard Estate is now crumbling in places after some 11 years. As per PC regulations, three quotes have been sought and a contractor picked. The work should be done by the end of this month.
- On the back of a report by Tredington flood warden Richard Chatham, the council succeeded in arranging a meeting with Andy Bayliss from Severn Trent. We broached several concerns with him and the meeting served to give us a much greater understanding of the issues and complications that would allow us to resolve them.
- Sadly, the grant we applied for from Enovert Community Trust for a twin EV charging point at the Community Centre was refused. We are very disappointed, as it was a lot of work putting the application together. The reasons given were that they were over-subscribed and that we had had a grant awarded previously for the solar batteries. We will continue to explore options to fund this community service.
- Work on our new shop should commence this month. Hopefully, with no hiccups it should be up and running soon. Arsh, from Gotherington Stores has asked for ideas from residents on social media, so it'd be great to see if all of our suggestions are provided for!

- The area under the swings in the playpark is deteriorating. We have fenced off the worst bit and as per regs again, have sought three quotes to get the area done in the rubberised surface that is under the glider. The quotes for doing the groundworks are astronomical so Cllr Gilder and others are exploring the means by which we can do it for a fraction of the cost.
- We also had the manufacturer of the glider attend to check it over, and he has replaced and repaired several areas that were either cracking or had broken. All that is needed now is a fresh coat of paint. Nikki, our hall manager is sourcing the correct shades, and we hope to have a volunteer day soon to make it looking like new again. 😊
- The Land by the Chapel area continues to be challenging in trying to control the horse tail invasion. We have asked for more regular cutting and Cllr Shorrock has been using weed control spray. The dry weather also hasn't been the best conditions for the newly planted trees, but Chapel owner Paul Duncliffe has allowed us to use his water supply to keep them alive. We have asked the contractor to do the ditch bank also the next time he cuts, but please if anyone fancies doing anything to help there, we would love to hear from you.

Have a good month all!

Wounded Airborne Sapper's Gripping Letter

Shields Man in First Glider To Land in Normandy

SAPPER Fred Shorey, R.E., son of Mr and Mrs J. Shorey, of 23 Sidney Street, North Shields, who was in the first glider to land on the soil of France on D-Day, and who was later wounded and is now in a hospital in England, has written a gripping letter to his parents describing his experiences.

Aged 22, Sapper Shorey before joining the Army two and a half years ago, was an apprentice joiner in the employ of Messrs Albert Park and Son, Ltd., builders and contractors, of North Shields. He was educated at Queen Victoria School.

In his letter he first tells of the very thorough training the company of airborne infantry and sappers, of whom he was one, received, for the very important job that had been assigned to them—the seizing of two bridges in Normandy. They were given the honour, he observes, of being the very first troops to set foot in France.

"No one knew the exact time or date," Sapper Shorey writes, "at which this great event was to take place and while in the transit camp everyone was on edge to know. The morale was the highest I've ever witnessed. . . . After being there a few days we were paid in French currency and it was becoming obvious to everyone that the time was not far off. Some of us even laid bets on 'the day' and it wasn't seldom that one heard a sarcastic 'Bonjour, Monsieur,' or 'Merci bocoo,' instead of the usual good morning and thank you.

WEATHER BROKE

"Then we were told that our task would take place on the evening of the 4th or 5th, and the pitch of excitement was raised higher still. Up till then the weather had been perfect, but there was a sudden change on the 4th, and so the job was postponed for 24 hours.

"The following day the weather was not too good, being pretty dull with occasional rain and wind, but we were told that we were expected to go that night; so during the afternoon we were given a final briefing and checked our stores and equipment.

"Then the moment had come! At about 9.30 p.m. we all paraded in camp ready for battle, the majority of us for the first time. It was a tense moment and yet I can't say even then I realised the time had come.

"We boarded trucks to take us to the aerodrome where the gliders were waiting. We had a hot drink and a final talk to each other, mostly expressing our opinions of the outcome of the job. Everyone camouflaged their face and hands, we all donned our 'Mae Wests' and boarded the gliders, 24 infantrymen and five sappers to each. Everyone looked quite happy about the whole thing.

GRAND SIGHT

"The take off was quite smooth; in fact the whole flight was not too bad till we got to the French coast.

We took off at 22.45 hours and were due to land at 00.15 hours, which meant a trip of one and a half hours. . . . It was, indeed a grand sight to look down over the Channel in the semi-darkness and see the hundreds of invasion craft of all types and sizes.

"The glider pilots handled the kite with superb skill.

"As we approached the French coast, I saw what seemed to be the whole place lit up. The R.A.F. were on the job. Blackpool illuminations didn't have a look in. I also noticed many flashes and explosions in the sky in front of us. "Can it be enemy flak?" I thought, and my stomach seemed to turn over.

"It wasn't long before I knew. In no time we seemed to be among it, and to me the glider seemed to roll all over the place. Then there was a sudden jolt. No, we had not been hit; it was the usual jolt one feels when the glider casts off from the tug. We were on our own. What was to happen next?

"We did have an occasional burst of flak at us as we smoothly glided silently down, but we were soon too low for the flak to get at us. As I looked out I could see the ground coming swiftly up to meet us. Everyone had taken off their Mae Wests, and we were strapped in with arms linked to each other in case of a bumpy landing.

GLIDER WRECKED

"We had been told to expect a bumpy landing as we were to touch down in an awkward spot. But it seems the landing was worse than had been anticipated. We hit the ground, started skidding along. Crash over one ditch, crash over another and then an unearthly crash, and the glider just seemed to crumple up into a bundle of firewood and pieces of wreckage flew about everywhere.

"It was a queer sensation. I could feel myself riding along the bumps and I never thought any of us would survive it. But to my amusement, I was all right. I didn't know what position I finished up in when we came to a standstill. Most of the other men seemed to be in the queerest positions.

"Practically all our equipment was rendered useless except for our rifles and ammunition and a couple of Bren guns. How I did get out I couldn't say, but I found myself on French soil fully equipped for the job and crouching down in case of Jerry shooting at us. I soon found out the cause of the crash. We had gone

SHOP UPDATE

It's been sometime now since the shop closed and we have all realised how much we missed the shop being open.

We have had an update, Arsh the new leaseholder of the shop along with his family will be starting renovations soon with a hope to opening September, maybe earlier depending on works progress, The building remains the property of the Parish Council and the Sohal family have signed a lease to be here for many years to come, they are looking forward to opening their new shop in Stoke Orchard and offering a great provision to the community

REMINISCENCES OF YESTERYEAR...

The Bellingham family have owned Court Farm since 1936 but it was tenant farmed and then during the war completely ploughed up to provide food.

John Bellingham, who still lives on the farm, remembers coming by train from Worcester to Bishops Cleeve station, which was opposite the farm, around 1938 when he was 8 years old to help out. The Family then moved to the farm in 1949. The railway station was still operational at this time and supplies such as fertiliser for the farm came by train as well as all the supplies for the Tate and Lyle factory in Stoke Orchard. At this time 'The Park' (now the entrance to the tip and farm land) as it was known was the hub of Stoke Orchard. There were several families living there in temporary accommodation (huts) who had been evacuated during the war to help on the land.

During the 1950s John remembers playing football for 'Stoke Park' and attending the weekly dances held in the Clubhouse. The Clubhouse had changing rooms, a skittle alley and a full sized snooker table. There was also a shop on the Park as well as a weekly clinic in the old Hospital building. The base was used as an air training facility and gliders would regularly be towed up from there.

John also remembers going to the cinema which was in a Hostel for refugees along the old Stoke Road between Stoke Orchard and Bishops Cleeve. Stoke Orchard also had a thriving cricket team that had a pitch down Mill Lane in Stoke Orchard and then moved to somewhere near where the M5 is now.

The church was also important to village life and John started to help with the maintenance of the Churchyard in 1949. He was still cutting the grass and trimming hedges until approx 3 years ago at the age of 92

Our July meeting was The UK major heists and "The geezers that did em". Well I'm surprised anybody wanted to live in London with all those bad boys. There seemed to be so many and our speaker was certainly full of information. I'm sure he could have kept talking for hours. We welcomed two visitors who hopefully will join us. Vikki made us a beautiful cake to have with our coffee.

The next meeting will be in September as we have a summer break in August. It is on Tuesday 9th, 7.30pm in Tredington Village Hall. The speaker will be Ian Boskett talking about the Ashchurch to Tewkesbury Railway. Visitors welcome, come and see if you would like to join our WI.

The WI has organised a Bingo evening on Saturday 6th September, 7.30 - 10pm. This is being held in Stoke Orchard Hall. Tickets £10.00 for adults, £5.00 for under 14s. This includes a book of 12 games and nibbles.

TREDINGTON & STOKE ORCHARD GARDENING CLUB are taking a break in August but will meet again in Tredington village Hall on Monday, September 15th at 7.30pm.

Calling all Volunteers!

We need your help to get our community playpark and centre looking great!

Jobs include:

- Playpark prep for new surfacing
- Painting the glider
- Weeding, litter picking
- Putting up signs

A million thanks...

Jim Gilson who regularly plants bulbs and does impromptu litter picking with his wife Ann. Bill and Terry Holden undertake littering picking, have trimmed around the village gates and cleared the Chapel Walk style. They also help keep the verges near their house tidy and have planted these areas up with their neighbours at the end of Banady Lane. Peter Bryenton reattached a sign and repaired two loose timbers on the Chapel Orchard fencing. Steve Darnell for his litter picking across the Parish. Paddy Grimshaw for her care of the Tredington phone box.

If anyone would like to look after an area near their house or undertake a small repair/tidy up job you've noticed needs doing, please just let us know (in case there's anything we need to make you aware of). We're so appreciative of any help!

Many years ago, we had an army of volunteers to help get the play park prepped for the arrival of the glider, we had a great response and now fast forward many years, we need your help again!

The children have had many hours of play and love the park but its needs a spruce up. We are planning to get together on a Sunday morning in September, time and date to be confirmed. If you can let a hand, please let us know via dropping us an email info@stokeorchard or via the Community Centre Facebook page.

Thank you!

Stoke Orchard and Tredington Community Speed Watch

Brake's campaign priorities

Default 20mph speed limits on all roads in built-up areas across the UK – In 2022, 593 people died on urban roads in Britain, including 385 pedestrians and 91 cyclists. Thousands more were seriously injured [1]. Reducing default speed limits to 20mph on roads in built-up areas will save lives, reduce severe injuries and help more people walk and wheel in safety.

Progressive licensing to safeguard young and newly qualified drivers – In 2022, 4,959 people were killed or seriously injured from a crash involving a young driver [2]. A progressive licensing system with minimum periods for learning, enhanced testing and training, and measures to reduce the risks associated with carrying peer-age passengers and driving at night, could reduce the number of deaths and injuries involving young drivers by 20-40%.

Zero-tolerance on drink-driving – Every year, more than 200 people die in drink-driving incidents on UK roads and a further 1,600 are seriously injured [3]. England and Wales have the highest maximum drink-driving limits in Europe, including for commercial drivers. We want to change that and make drink-driving a thing of the past.

All new vehicles to have life-saving technology fitted as standard – There is no good reason for any new vehicle to be built without the latest-generation, life-saving vehicle safety technology outlined in the General Safety Regulations. In the UK, we helped shape these regulations, which have now been adopted in the EU and Northern Ireland [4]. Now it's time for us to raise the standard in Britain.

All organisations to be required to monitor and report on incidents involving work vehicles – Work-related road traffic collisions are estimated to contribute to a third of UK road deaths (565 people) and a fifth of serious injuries (5,620 people) [5], yet there is no requirement for organisations to report incidents and near misses to the Health and Safety Executive. We're calling for change that requires all organisations to report incidents within the existing RIDDOR system.
